Suggestion of Ontario Railway and Municipal Board.

Detailed Report of Operations of Tribunal Since Its Creation a Year Ago—Premier Whitney Intimates That the Three-Fifths Clause in Local Option Act is Efficient and Will Not Be Repealed.

Toronto, Feb. 1.—Yesterday afternoon, in the Legislature, the Provincial Secretary laid on the table the first report of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board. It is a voluminous document. The powers of the tribunal under the act are described, and much space is given to a review of the various cases that have come before it since its creation in the spring. The board was called upon to intervene between the London Street Railway and its employees, and also to modify the recent street railway strike at Hamilton. In each case the settlement effected "according to newspaper reports," was satisfactory to both company and employee, and no further trouble has arisen.

The board dealt with 56 applications, arbitrating many disputes with regard to the annexation of territory, many bylaws and railway matters, many recommendations are made. To summarize, the board wants more that citizens and mayors of municipalities know their own business and are competent to protect their own interests by invoking the intervention of the board. The board, therefore, prefers that some interested parties shall set the law in motion. If calls which anyone might make at pleasure, and without responsibility, it might find itself paralyzed and ineffectual. In many cases complaints were made in reference to matters over which the board had no jurisdiction.

Railway Cases.
Regarding the question of railway fares, the board gave attention to clause 21 of the Ontario Railway Act, and sent circulars to companies under the jurisdiction of the board, asking them to submit their tariff by reason of the conflict of jurisdiction over electric railways. Railways declared to be for the general advantage of Canada are under the jurisdiction of the Dominion, and are entitled to charge the maximum fare of three cents a mile. Several cases came before the board, and the board declared to be for the general advantage of Canada are under the jurisdiction of the Dominion, and are entitled to charge the maximum fare of three cents a mile. Several cases came before the board, and the board declared to be for the general advantage of Canada are under the jurisdiction of the Dominion, and are entitled to charge the maximum fare of three cents a mile.

Municipal Appeals.
Two appeals were heard by the board regarding municipal assessments, and seventeen applications were heard under the section 53, giving power to deal with the annexation of territory to municipalities and bylaws relating to public improvements. Reference is made to the London and Hamilton street railway strikes. In consequence of the board's mediation at London, the men returned to work and submitted their grievances about the company and the men expressed their satisfaction, and no further trouble has arisen.

There was the same result, according to the report, from the mediation of the tribunal in the Hamilton strike. The report detailed the investigations into the condition of the equipment of the London and Hamilton street railways. Reference is also made of unquiescent students on the Hamilton Street Railway. Tests of tenders were also made by the board.

Several amendments to the existing law are recommended. It is suggested that it should be made clear that, at the expiration of a street railway franchise, a corporation has the right to take over a street railway franchise. The interpretation of the existing law is suggested.

Except For Cities, Where An Annual Registration Is Made a Necessity—The Text-Book Commission Reports—Treats Exhaustively Whole State of School Book Trade—Books Behind the Times

Toronto, Feb. 2.—Premier Whitney's bill to amend the Manhood Suffrage Act was the feature of yesterday's short session of the Legislature. The bill repeals the act except in so far as it applies to cities.

Premier Whitney explained that the floating population in cities necessary, but in the smaller communities, where the population was comparatively stable, it was not required. If it is good for a town of 10,000, argue opponents of the change, it is good for one of 5,000. High school teachers are pointed out among others who would be unable to get on residences for possibly two years under the proposed law.

A. B. Thompson introduced a bill to amend the Registry Act. The proposed act requires letters on railway register. An amending act, however, distinctly forbids this. Recently when was sought to register a mechanical lion under the act the discrepancy was met, and Mr. Thompson now wishes to have it remedied.

Text-Book Report.
Hon. W. J. Hanna presented the report of the Text-Book Commission. The report is of considerable length and treats exhaustively the whole state of the school-book trade. The publishing houses in the United States and studied the most modern methods of production. Prices and methods of distribution were gone into, and the school books of Great Britain and Ireland were consulted. Books Behind the Times.

The summing up of the commissioners is as follows:
It is clear that text-book publishing in Ontario has fallen behind the times. Most of the books produced today are no better than those produced 20 years ago, whereas in the United States and in Great Britain progress has been made. The text equal to that used in the United States, and is much inferior to that used in Great Britain. As the demand for this kind of paper increases, the quality of the inferior will disappear. Concerning typesetting, some of the work done is deplorable, inferior, while plate-making and press work are most nearly up-to-date. In binding the United States and produce better work at lower prices. Part of this general inferiority has been due to the absence of any instant demand from the educational authorities. The Department allowed school books to be purchased by the inspectors and teachers, and the inspectors and teachers, unfamiliar with conditions elsewhere, may be produced in Canada as elsewhere, but the authorities insist upon an equally high standard.

Recommendations.
Introduction of free school books is favored. Success depends on successfully practice the system. All progressive communities adopt it. Otherwise, those who publish school books open to competition, while maintaining quality, in the best of periods of authorization, so as to keep them up to date. A selectatory and modern reader to be prepared, securing all copyright by making plates, and letting the printer by tender. Special care to be given to size of type, illustrations, paper and quantity of copy sent on a page. The entire order unless a new set can be secured. Authors only one price.

Twenty-Four Rescued.
London, Feb. 2.—Lifelines from Hartlepool yesterday morning rescued 24 men from the crew of the British ship Cleaving, ashore at the mouth of the river, including Capt. Scott. The bodies of nine Lascars, who died of exposure during the night, were expunged, making the total breaking up.

Artist's Odd Suicide.
New York, Feb. 2.—J. J. Schmidt, an artist, built a bonfire of paper in his room in a lodging house in Brooklyn when he came home early yesterday morning. The fire was extinguished without any financial loss.

Col. Hendra Ill.

STORM SWEPT.
Farmers Expresses as to Safety of the Western Settlers.

Winnipeg, Feb. 2.—The west is again storm swept. Reports from Alberta and Saskatchewan say it is the worst yet, and cattle are perishing by thousands. Cattle seeking shelter from storm actually dropped dead in the streets of Medicine Hat yesterday. Ranchers are completely ruined.

The things were just beginning to make some headway, but now it is feared they will be tied up completely. On many branch lines the road has been given up and the outlook is hopeless. Many are almost featureless and provisions are running low.

It is feared that many isolated homesteaders will perish. "The list of the commercial coal for Winnipeg, which was stored in our docks at Port Arthur, was shipped out yesterday," said E. A. James, manager of the Canadian Northern Railway.

"With the advent of such a terribly hard winter as we have experienced our line has become a problem. On many branch lines the road has been given up and the outlook is hopeless. Many are almost featureless and provisions are running low."

The C. P. R. has also decided to cut our train a day of the road to continue service.

Ontario Man Apprehended.
Winnipeg, Feb. 2.—Juniel E. Cummings, aged 22, was found dead in bed yesterday. He was a resident in a boarding-house on Assiniboine avenue. He had been in the city for some time. His family contacted him in the city and he was taken to the hospital. He died of a heart attack.

Pittsburg Allentat Bases Theory of Prisoner's Insanity on a Street Car Episode and Reported Actions on Night of Tragedy—District Attorney Bombarde Him With Queries and Sarcasm—Blocks Other Evidence of Insanity.

New York, Feb. 6.—The task of the Fifth avenue jury that Harry Thaw was insane—through heredity and that he had served as an expert yesterday by the defense.

Dr. C. C. Wiley of Pittsburg, the Third Avenue physician, was the first witness for the defense. Dr. Wiley testified that he had devoted much of his life to a study of insanity, and that he had served as an expert in many cases.

"In the summer of 1905," he said, "I was a passenger on a street car when Harry Thaw came in. Without any apparent reason, Thaw rushed for the blinds to a window, drew up the blind, slammed it down again, and then drew it up once more. He had a quarrel with the conductor. Thaw's manner was irrational."

Mr. Gleason outlined Thaw's act of killing White and called with the hypothetical interrogation as to whether the witness could express an opinion of such an act committed by the person he saw in the Pittsburg street car.

"My opinion is that the man who committed the act described was suffering from insanity. The witness was asked to define hereditary insanity, which he did, but when a question by Mr. Gleason as to the influence of hereditary insanity was asked an objection by Mr. Jerome was sustained.

Re-examined by Mr. Jerome, Dr. Wiley said that hereditary insanity is the common blood flows through brothers, and, therefore, a cousin, the son of an uncle of the defendant, might follow the same hereditary influence.

"Are you acquainted with the form of insanity which the law of this state defines as a crime?" asked Mr. Jerome. "Not exactly," replied Dr. Wiley.

"Then your opinion on the hypothetical question you have answered was given as a scientific and medical statement, and you had in mind the various forms of mental aberration which scientific men meet frequently and discuss?" "Yes, and from my own experience of the medical knowledge on the subject," replied Dr. Wiley.

A Quick Change.
Dr. Wiley was asked if he was willing to go on record, after merely witnessing Thaw's action on the street car in Pittsburg, and from a description of his killing of Stanford White, as saying Thaw was insane. He replied yes. Asked by Mr. Gleason if he would state the determination of the time of the deed, which he said it was wrong, the witness replied, "Yes," and started an explanation, which was stopped quickly by Mr. Jerome.

When the question was again put, "No," he explained that a person might be insane at the time of the deed, and yet be sane at the time of the trial, and yet be insane in the context of an irrevocable impulse.

"In other words," commented Mr. Jerome, "we have a sort of volitional insanity?" "That is possible, couple with a mental impulse," replied Dr. Wiley.

Mr. Jerome asked the witness to give the substance of the hypothetical question on which he based "so important an opinion in this case." The witness here inadvertently admitted that he had taken into consideration his knowledge of the case outside of the question.

Mr. Jerome motioned that the entire question and answer be stricken out. Mr. Gleason then re-phrased the question, and asked: "What is your opinion, based on the form of insanity as laid down by the law of this state?" "The act was that of an insane man," replied Dr. Wiley.

ing three bullets into the body of his victim, the man had his revolver aloft to indicate that his deed was done, and that there was to be no further killing, and that he wanted to avert a panic on his roof garden, where there were hundreds of women and children." That entered into the calculation.

The Place For the Crime.
Mr. Jerome interrupted: "Tell us some more of your conclusions from the hypothesis?" "The time, the manner, and the place chosen."

"So," shouted the district attorney, "you think the place was chosen for the crime, do you?" "Not my argument is that it was not chosen."

"I don't want your argument. What is your opinion—was the place chosen?" "No."

"The killing of any person in a public place is per se an act of insanity," Mr. Jerome told the witness over every incident of the night of the tragedy and asked him if in each case an insane man. The witness finally summed up his answers as follows: "Taken as one thing, the witness said, 'No, so let them together they do.'"

Dr. Wiley resumed the stand at the afternoon session. He proceeded: "Doctor, by the cross-examination the witness testified, 'Well,' resumed his opinion. 'May be you can tell us if in the pneumographic nerve, along the spinal column in the lunar circle or in the dorsal region.'"

"Where is the dorsal region?" "I have not read much on that," replied Dr. Wiley, never mind the meaning if it is not a fact that the pneumographic and cardiac nerves are one and the same thing." "They may be," replied Mr. Jerome.

"Don't you, as a specialist in nerve diseases and as an expert, know which is which?" The witness was silent. District Attorney Jerome raised question after question upon him and no answer was vouchsafed. Finally, he asked:

"When did you last read them?" "I don't know," replied Dr. Wiley. "Isn't it a fact that they are functions of a human body are controlled by the pneumographic nerve, running through the spinal marrow on the medulla oblongata?"

A court officer had to rap for order, and Dr. Wiley's answer was lost in the tumult. Continuing, Mr. Jerome asked: "Did you ever examine this defendant?" "Yes," replied Dr. Wiley. "Have you seen him since?" "Yes," replied Dr. Wiley.

To Judge Insanity.
"Can you determine whether or not a man is insane by looking at him?" "No, I must have some conversation with him," replied Dr. Wiley.

"Do you ever converse with Thaw?" "No," replied Dr. Wiley. "Has this defendant perished?" "I don't know," replied Dr. Wiley.

"Was it because he was a parrot that he killed Stanford White?" "Thaw smiled at this part of the examination and whispered to several of his counsel. They also smiled. Thaw then said it right for you to come here and give it as you consider that a man is insane when you have not submitted him to as you consider of any sort and have not even conversed with him on an examination."

Evelyn Thaw Tells Her Story Accused Man Sits in Tears as Wife's Evidence is Given.

How She Told Thaw of Stanford White—Young Wife's First Meeting With White and Shadow It Cast Over Her Life and That Of Young Thaw—Scenes and Incidents—Pathetic and Tragical, Graphically Described.

New York, Feb. 8.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw told her story yesterday. To save the life of her husband, charged with murder, she bared to the world the dark secrets of her soul—a portrait for which a sanctuary was a mere filling place than the crowded, gasping court room. It was the same story she told Harry Thaw in Paris in 1902 when he had asked her to become his wife—the confusion of a woman who felt there was an insurmountable barrier to her ever becoming the bride of the man she loved. In the big witness chair she appeared but a slip of a girl and she told

How far east you gave when something unusual attracted your attention. A—He almost reached the elevator when I turned round to say something to Mr. Thaw and he was not there.

Stanford White.

Who did you see when you turned around? A—I saw Stanford White. Where was he? A—He was seated at a table.

How far were you from him? A—About as far as from here to the end of the jury box.

Mr. Thaw indicated the distance—about 50 or 60 feet.

When you saw Stanford White there did you see Mr. Thaw at all?

A—No. I did not see Mr. Thaw until a moment or two later.

Where was he? A—He was standing directly in front of Mr. White, about 10 feet away.

Your husband was directly in front of Mr. White?

What was his position? A—He had his arm out like a shield.

Mrs. Thaw indicated the gesture of a man about to be a shield.

Then what happened? A—I heard some shots.

Did you exclaim anything? A—Yes, I think I turned to Mr. McClellan and said, "My God, he has shot him!"

Mr. Thaw walked toward me.

"My God, He Must Be Crazy!"

What did you say to him? A—I said, "Harry, what have you done, and why have you done it? He came up to me and kissed me, and said, 'All right; I have probably saved your life. Then I heard Mr. McClellan say, 'My God, he must be crazy.'"

Mr. Thaw remembered going down in the elevator.

She and Thaw were married on April 4, 1900, in Pittsburg.

Where was the ceremony performed?

A—At the residence of the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

Who was there? A—My mother and her husband, Mr. Holmes; and Mr. Thaw's mother, and his brother Joseph.

Did Mr. Thaw first propose to you? A—No. It was in 1900, in Paris, did you refuse him when he proposed?

Did you tell him why you refused? A—Yes.

Was it because of any event in your life?

The incident in Paris.

"In stating your reason to Mr. Thaw, did you say it was because of an incident in your life connected with the trial of Stanford White?"

Justice Fielding warned Mrs. Thaw that if she said anything she would be sworn to tell the truth.

She told Thaw at the time of his proposal.

What did Thaw do after the refusal?

A—He came over to me, and said, "I told him I could not, but I said, 'I will be true to you if you love me.' I said 'Yes.' Then he said, 'Why?'"

"But tell me why," he said, "Give me a reason." I said, "I said because I came over to me and put his hands on my neck and looked straight at me and said, 'It is because of Stanford White.' I said, 'It is because of Stanford White.'"

What was Mr. Thaw's manner toward you? A—He was kind and nice and looked at me.

He said he would never love of any anybody else.

What did you do? A—I cried.

Did you meet with White?

EVELYN NESBIT THAW.

the pitiful story of her eventual young life in a frank, girlish way. When tears came unbidden to her big brown eyes and slowly trickled their way down scarlet cheeks, the store in vain to keep them back. Though the lump in her throat at times seemed about to choke her, she uttered the words from trembling lips and she took her unwillingly to her struggling ordeal, she stood off a deposition which once threatened to become an absolute collapse.

Thaw Cried.

In the absorption in the sympathy-imparting story of the girl and the fascination of a voice of softest quality, judicially clear in enunciation, the court room forgot the prisoner. But when there came a halt in the girl's fight against her tears, they saw Harry Thaw again.

With his whole frame shaking, he looked with his head buried in his hands. A handkerchief covered his eyes. Becoming the table as he sobbed he could not be seen by the jurymen at all. Then he sat for many minutes, and when he finally lifted his head his eyes were red and swollen.

Mrs. Thaw smiled at his sobs.

Harry Thaw smiled at his wife as she walked to the witness-stand, but she apparently did not see him at the time. After she was seated, however, she smiled faintly at the prisoner.

Mrs. Thaw, in answer to Delmar first question, said she was born Dec. 28, 1884, the date of her going to the Cafe Martin to dinner on the evening of June 25 with her husband, Thomas McClellan and Truxton Beale.

While you were in the Cafe Martin did you call for a pencil? A—Yes.

What time did you see him? A—I did not know it was someone after me.

What did you do with it? A—I passed it to Mr. Thaw.

What did Mr. Thaw do? A—He said to me, "Are you all right?"

Yes, I was.

Mrs. Thaw, have you that slip of paper on which you saw him? A—No. Have you seen it since? A—No.

How did you write after to Stanford White?

A—Jerome objected on the ground that the note itself was the best evidence. The court sustained.

The questions were then turned to the witness to the Roof Garden. Mrs. Thaw told how they reached the place and how they were seated.

They were seated in the Roof Garden. A—I did.

Harry Thaw's Frame and As Disclosed in Letters Read At Morning Session of Trial.

Effect of Wife's Communication About Stanford
White's Persecutions of Her After They Returned
From Europe-Incoherent Epistles Which Breathe
Forth His Love For His Evelyn, Whom He Reverenced.

New York, Feb. 8.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw again yesterday was the central figure at her husband's trial. She was still on the stand—her direct examination unfinished—when the usual weekend adjournment until Monday morning was taken.

Picking up the threads of her life's story where she dropped them the evening before, the girl-wife of the defendant—always, she declared, telling her story just as she related it to Harry Thaw from time to time—brought the narrative down to her wedding in Pittsburg on April 10, and their return to New York following a honeymoon trip in the west.

While yesterday's testimony was the personal quality which made Thursday's postal so dramatic so enthralling and pathetic, it served to clear away some of the doubts and inferences which remained as to the full extent of the revelations Mrs. Thaw says she made to her husband.

The evidence for much of the day mounted mainly of the identification by her of various letters written by her husband. If the genuineness of these communications is not disputed at a later stage, they will do much to prove that Thaw was scrupulously honorable in his dealings with the girl of whom he was enamored, none his wife. Thaw has been regarded generally as having been a worthless young fellow of wealth, who never did so honest day's work, who was wild and vicious in his habits, and overbearing in his manner. These letters indicate that towards Evelyn Nesbit he was always gentle and patient, that she appealed to all that was best in his nature, and that he desired to shield her from those who would harm her by conduct or slander.

Believed Her Most Good.
"I am sure I believed you most good," he declared in one of several rather incoherent epistles. His reverence for her, and rapid devotion to her, are evident in many passages. In one place he declared he had not been seeing other girls as she wished him to, except by accident. He also protested his faithfulness, that he never lied to her. Speaking of him in the past, he said, "Yesterday he saw you believed everything I told him, for he said, 'You are so good, but as you are absolutely honest, he would do you no harm over for it, only he was sorry. He won't trouble you at all, as he would do anything for you.' He then called her by the name of 'Nesbit.' Later he told her, 'You know I have always treated you with the utmost respect,' and 'I am sure you know I will never hurt you.'"

With the funeral affairs, Mr. Delmas returned to the direct examination of Mrs. Thaw. He then called her by the name of "Did you tell Harry Thaw of an episode in your life connected with Stanford White and Abraham Hammon in New York between your return from Paris in 1907 until Christmas day of that year?" he asked.

"No," replied the witness. "I did not tell him until later." She had arrived from Europe in October, 1905, and also told Thaw early in 1906, in January, she said. "He asked me how I came to speak to Stanford White after my return from Europe. I told him I was driving down Fifth Avenue one day in a hansom cab with my maid, and we passed Stanford White. I heard him exclaim, 'Oh, look at Evelyn!' A few days later, he called to the phone, and it was Mrs. White. I told him I could not see him. He said he had had much much to do with my family and must see me. He said it was a matter of life and death.

"So he came to see me at the Hotel Savoy. When he came in he told me to kiss him, but I did not let him. He said my visit was the matter. I told him to sit down and asked him again my mother was ill. He said no, and at once began to talk about Harry Thaw. He told me that different people had told him that I was in Europe with Harry Thaw. He said distinctly that Harry Thaw took money from me that he was not even a gentleman, and that I must have nothing to do with him.

He was covered with photographs of actresses, and when I went to him, he asked me how I came to go to him. He said Harry Thaw, and I told him that I didn't. I went with my mother and Thaw followed us. He asked me about my quarrel with my mother in London. I said it was a continuous quarrel between us; we simply couldn't get along. She wanted to go home to America, and I said she could come, but I was going to stay here and attend to my state, but the doctor told me I couldn't do so for a year. He said I was a miser, and that Thaw should have been more careful. He said he had a very bad day, and that Thaw was a very bad man, and, above all things, I must be protected from him. Mr. White then said what he wanted was to get Harry Thaw out of New York and keep him there, said said I must leave everything in Mr. Hammon's hands."

Detailed a Statement.
"Then they sent for a stenographer, and the lawyer said I must not interrupt him in what he was about to say. I was very nervous and excited, and I think I began to cry. When they began to dictate and put in a lot of stuff that I had been carried away by Harry Thaw again, I began to interrupt, but the lawyer put up his hands and stopped me."

Several days later Mr. Hammon called me up and asked if I had any letters from Mr. Thaw, I said I did, but I was afraid to show them to him. He said I was afraid to do with it. Mr. White also called up and said if I wasn't willing to let him in every way they couldn't protect me from Thaw. He said I could do just what Mr. Hammon said. So I made the letters up in a bundle and took them down to Mr. Hammon's office. He said he just wanted to hold them over Harry Thaw's head. Then he asked me why I didn't use Harry Thaw for breach of promise. I said that was absurd, for they began to dictate and put in a lot of stuff that I had been carried away by Harry Thaw again, I began to interrupt, but the lawyer put up his hands and stopped me."

She Signed Nothing.
"Mr. Thaw asked me if I had signed anything on Mr. Hammon's letter, and I said I had not. He said that he was afraid to do with it. Mr. White also called up and said if I wasn't willing to let him in every way they couldn't protect me from Thaw. He said I could do just what Mr. Hammon said. So I made the letters up in a bundle and took them down to Mr. Hammon's office. He said he just wanted to hold them over Harry Thaw's head. Then he asked me why I didn't use Harry Thaw for breach of promise. I said that was absurd, for they began to dictate and put in a lot of stuff that I had been carried away by Harry Thaw again, I began to interrupt, but the lawyer put up his hands and stopped me."

Mr. Thaw said, "A reputable lawyer came to see me, and he allowed to state the name, but it is generally known to be Mr. Longfellow, the Thaw family attorney." "Mr. Thaw and I talked frequently about the matter, and Mr. Thaw said I had no business speaking to Mr. White after my return from Europe. I told him I was driving down Fifth Avenue one day in a hansom cab with my maid, and we passed Stanford White. I heard him exclaim, 'Oh, look at Evelyn!' A few days later, he called to the phone, and it was Mrs. White. I told him I could not see him. He said he had had much much to do with my family and must see me. THE DRILL, SLED.

Mr. Walter Aford moved, seconded by Mr. Peterson, that a deputation, consisting of Messrs. R. J. Axford, H. F. Peterson, and J. H. Axford, be appointed to interview the Government in this matter. He thought that the deputation would be able to make a request that the deputation of Messrs. Axford, Peterson, and Peterson, be appointed to the building section of the city.

Mr. H. F. Peterson was of the opinion that the members of the deputation should be the best possible. He believed that the

Mr. Walter Aford agreed that the deputation should be, when it was possible, to make something, if possible, about the drill, what it was to be constructed, and the same structure was not a desirable one. It should be all stone.

The President said the deputation would require about the matter.

The match being played at Londona next Friday evening. It is believed by rag-bow cricketers that the winners of this series will throw some their way into the first-class ranks. The teams are in fine shape, and will be a good battle. The boys from Londona travel at a merry pace, and will be glad to see their friends. The boys from their district in a romp, but they'll strike a different proposition next Thursday night.

The Basis of Adjustment Reached On Frisco School Question at the White House.

Though Details, Whereby Japan Will Not Complain or Raise Difficulty, Are Not Yet Given. Labor Is Indignant, and Wires Protest to Mayor Schmitz Against His Surrender—Will Stand on Rights.

Washington, Feb. 11.—President Roosevelt and the authorities of San Francisco reached the mutual understanding Saturday that the California Japanese school question can be adjusted without danger of any serious difficulty with, or any complaint by, Japan. The details of the adjustment are not agreed upon. To arrange them other conferences will be held, the next one today.

The conference took place at the White House Saturday afternoon. It was attended by President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Root, representing the administration, and by Mayor E. F. Schmitz, the members of the board of education, the superintendent of schools and the assistant city attorney, all representing the educational interests of San Francisco.

Indignant Labor Protestants, Washington, Feb. 11.—A telegram received yesterday by Mayor Schmitz, from the president of the California Education League, in part reads:

"Many papers announce in big headlines that Mayor and school board make complete surrender. We cannot and will not believe it. Education League demands exclusion by act of Congress; treaty will not exclude. Sovereign rights will not be bartered away by promises and should not be made for compromise. We will not yield one iota of our rights as a sovereign people."

WAR IMPENDS.

Gravity of the South American Situation is Very Pronounced.

Washington, Feb. 11.—Advice received at the State Department late yesterday added to the gravity of the Central American situation.

It was reported that the arbitration which has been going on in San Salvador for the adjustment of the differences between Honduras and Nicaragua had been abruptly terminated, and that war was impending.

Managua, Nicaragua, Feb. 11.—Advice received here was to the effect that it was President Blandin of Honduras who broke the treaty of Cortes (which provides for the arbitration of questions in dispute between the Central American republics), and that as a result of this the tribunal, which was sitting at San Salvador in an endeavor to settle the differences between Nicaragua and Honduras was dissolved.

Trouble In Haiti.

Port au Prince, Haiti, Feb. 11.—The relations between the Governments of Haiti and Germany are strained owing to the refusal of the German Consuls, Hermann & Co., by direction of the courts at Port au Prince to return to the Haitian Government large sums of money alleged to have been obtained fraudulently.

The Official Monitor recently published a notice of the expulsion of an American citizen, after Mr. Foran, an American Minister, believing the call for the man's expulsion unjustified, asked for the withdrawal of the order. This, however, was refused, and Mr. Foran left for New York. The seal of the American legation has been placed on his shop.

Dependent on the Girls.

Toronto, Feb. 11.—By a series of cleverly put questions, Mr. Curry, counsel for the telephone girls, wrung several important admissions from General Manager McFarland at the telephone investigation on Saturday. He rather reluctantly admitted that the natural tendency for years had been toward reducing the hours of work per day, rather than lengthening them, and he thought it was the proper tendency; that, generally speaking, he had understood from Mr. Denstien's letters, that it was impossible for self-supporting girls (consuming 30 or 40 per cent) to live at the rate formerly paid; that, with out the operators, the company's 310,000 capital couldn't earn one cent; that Mr. Denstien had recommended in a letter the doing away with vacations for female girls, which would mean a take-off of $1 per girl to the company, and the amount was too insignificant to elicit any serious notice; also it while the Bell Telephone Co. was not a monopoly, yet, it held interests in several independent telephone companies, and controlling interest in two large electrical manufacturing companies, from which the Bell Co. bought its equipment.

Mr. Jeromes Mistake Delmas' Protest Inserted in the Thaw Court Record.

Jerome Wrought Up; Delmas Calm, But District Attorney Wins His Technical Objection—Interesting Evidence of Insanity Export, Dr. B.D. Evans, Who Declares Thaw Was Unsound of Mind.

New York, Feb. 12.—District Attorney Jerome and Delphin M. Delmas fought together late yesterday in the first serious clash between counsel in the Harry Thaw trial, and the California attorney, who is director of the defense, took exception to certain statements of the prosecuting officer, and had inserted in the record of the trial of the insanity expert, Dr. B.D. Evans, who declared Thaw was unsound of mind.

Dr. Britton D. Evans, superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane at Morris Plains, N. Y., was witness, and he testified earlier in the day that he was of the opinion that Harry Thaw was insane at the time of the tragedy. He had been called upon to answer a lengthy hypothetical question in which referee had been made to a "serious, if not capital, operation" upon Miss Nesbitt, when the storm between counsel broke.

Mr. Jerome seemed thoroughly wrought up. Mr. Delmas did not for a instant lose his calm demeanor, but he gave emphasis and force to his word now by his hands. The storm had been brewing for some minutes before it finally broke. Delmas and Mr. Jerome and Mr. Delmas are two of such diametrically opposed types that the clash was not unexpected. Justice Fitzgerald did not rule out any of the district attorney's remarks before the jury, and Mr. Delmas took care to have every expression he made "officially" noted. Mr. Jerome won his point, that the words "serious if not capital," as beginning the operation were withdrawn by Mr. Delmas.

During the tilt Mr. Delmas inquired of the district attorney how he came into possession of knowledge as to the character of the operation upon Miss Nesbitt, without a violation of confidence. Mr. Jerome said he had been told of it by Miss Nesbitt's mother.

Mr. Evans was on the stand all day. He detailed to the jury his observations and examinations of Harry Thaw during eight visits to the prison. He testified that Thaw was suffering from "brain storm," and that the slightest first visit to him in August last, his condition had shown steady and gradual improvement, until in October Thaw was more composed and deliberate.

Mr. Delmas laid particular emphasis upon the importance of showing the state of mind last July subsequent to the tragedy in arguments with District Attorney Jerome. "In order," the Californian explained, "that the jury, by means of the knowledge on the bench, may be able to see that Harry Thaw was a sane man at the time of the tragedy."

Mr. Evans declared that these mental explosions which had led Thaw to kill Stanford White had left the traces upon the defendant when he first visited him. He said Thaw exhibited symptoms of mental and moral insanity. The first was indicated by his exclamation, his "exaggerated ego"—the idea of his supreme importance. The adolescent insanity was due to heredity and it characterized the development period of life from 10 to 40 years.

Slipped His Moorings. "The acts of such a man are not the acts of a sane man, but show him to be guided by disease and passion," said the witness, who had held his moorings and yielded to diseased conditions.

"On my first visit I also noticed that Mr. Thaw suffered from a rapid flow of words not characteristic of the normal mind. He showed a condition of abnormal excitement—a diseased condition of the brain."

"In the diseased condition you have how the conditions differ from those in a normal man who speaks rapidly."

"An ordinary normal man speaks more or less deliberately on all matters of great importance. He speaks slowly and his ideas come logically and connectedly. A man of unsound mind the ideas come rapidly, and each word is a jump, a leap from one subject to another, but at once leads a trained observer to suspect unsoundness of mind. To me it means that the mind has either lost its moorings or that it has got into a severe mental crisis; in other words it is either the twilight or dawn of a state of mental unsoundness or explosion."

Thaw Sane Now. Dr. Evans declared that as a result of his first three visits to Thaw following the tragedy, he was convinced that the defendant was sane. As the result of his last five visits, he was convinced that Thaw was suffering from a somewhat exaggerated condition of self-importance, he was much improved. The improvement was not stationary during this time, but gradually progressive.

This testimony was brought out in line with the contention of the defense that while Thaw was insane prior to and at the time of the tragedy, subsequently to the homicide, he has improved to a sound condition of mentality, following the removal of the cause of stress.

Dr. Evans may be cross-examined today, although District Attorney Jerome had not indicated his course. It may be that Mr. Delmas will recall Mrs. Thaw to continue her story, now that expert witnesses have testified to the sanity of the man who committed the tragedy. The defense has other points to put upon the stand.

Suror's Wife Is Very Ill.

May Delay Thaw Trial With Possibility of Mis-Trial.

Allowed to Visit Her With Guard - Dr. Evans Concludes
His Evidence - Finds Unusual Depression in Thaw's Back Head - Not a Drug Fiend - Jerome Will Read Will to Facilitate Matters.

New York, Feb. 14.-The Thaw trial yesterday was limited to an afternoon of less than two hours' duration. The morning sitting of court was abandoned because of the illness of the wife of one of the jurors, Joseph R. Bolton, No. 11. Mr. Bolton was allowed to visit his home with two other jurors and two court officers. He found his wife suffering from double pneumonia, and two eminent physicians certified before District Attorney Jerome that her condition was very serious. Bolton returned to the jury room in time for the afternoon session. By stipulation of counsel the jury might again visit his home last night, accompanied by a bailiff. If Mrs. Bolton's condition continues to be so critical that her husband cannot give proper consideration to his duties as a juror there may be an indefinite postponement of the case, all the other jurors meanwhile being under guard, or, possibly, a mistrial.

Dr. Evans Concludes.
Dr. Britton D. Evans, superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane at Fort Plain, N.Y., was the only witness yesterday afternoon. His direct examination was finished and District Attorney Jerome reserved the right to cross-examine the expert later in the trial.

Dr. John F. Deemar of Kittingland, Pa., was recalled to the stand by the defense, and asked to tell what he knew of the mental condition of John Rose, a first cousin of Harry Thaw. It is known that Thaw's counsel that young Rose, the son of Mrs. William Thaw's sister, is, or was, insane.

Mr. Jerome objected to the question on the ground that the relationship was too remote to permit of drawing inferences as to hereditary insanity. Both question and witness were withdrawn temporarily.

Thaw's Head Depressed.
Thaw yesterday detailed his various examinations and physical conditions following the tragedy. He declared that there was a depression in the back of Thaw's head of a most unusual character.

"I am unable to state its significance," declared the witness, "for the reason that I never saw anything like it before."

Thaw also testified that the police after was the most extraordinary he said, would change seats four times within one minute, the variance being from twelve to twenty-four beats. The pulse indicated, he said, that the sympathetic nervous system was seriously at fault. Dr. Evans declared finally that he found no indication of drug habits by Thaw, nor excessive indulgence in intoxicants.

Thaw Will Given Jerome.
Following a conference between counsel just before adjournment, Mr. Jerome announced that Thaw's attorneys had turned the will of the defendant to him for examination before it should again be formally presented in evidence. Mr. Jerome said he might not offer further testimony on the "voluntariness document."

Counsel also agreed that Mr. Jerome should have the privilege of talking freely with Dr. Deemar, and with Dr. Birnbaum, the Thaw family physician, about certain testimony they have to offer. Mr. Jerome said that if he knew the nature of this testimony he might not have to occupy so much of the court's time or need the record with technical objections.

20 per cent Discount On All Winter Overcoats

The Quick & Robertson principle: "Every dollar's worth of goods must be sold during the season for which it was bought." It means heroic methods, extraordinary sacrifices, especially when stocks are unusually large, but we never flinch from the emergency, the principle is never departed from.

20 Per Cent.

Off Winter Overcoats

Every garment in the collection is a masterpiece of clothsrafft, every style every fabric and weave so new and staple that they will be found the best of good form next season and in spite of the fact that the most of the winter is yet to come, they go at this remarkable sacrifice of value, simply because we never "carry over."

Investigation At D. & D. Institute.

OLD CROW BOILED TO CONTRACTOR AND MEAT RETURNED TO IN-STITUTE FOR USE - TEACHERS
TESTIFY - INVESTIGATION AD-JUDGED.

The investigation of the D. & D. Institute was continued yesterday, and when the commission report on the proceedings was adopted unanimously, after evidence was in all probability, be presented, it will be some days before the commission meets again.

During yesterday's proceedings a number of the teachers and also of the students, who were examined, were asked to testify.

Mr. M. Mathison, the experienced, was upon the stand for the first time at the request of the sitting. His evidence was principally on the matter of oral teaching in the institution.

Mr. Wm. Nurse, store-keeper, was examined. He stated that his duties were strictly to see that the articles of food supplied were proper in quantity rather than in quality. He did admit that some meat which had been used had been spoiled.

ATE AN OLD CROW.
It also came out in evidence, and was not contradicted, that at one time an old crow at the institution, which had outlived its usefulness, was used as a contraband and the meat was returned to the institution for use.

TEACHERS TESTIFY.
The teachers who were called upon to give evidence, were: Coleman, Boyce, Ingram and Gibson, Mr. Moore, Ingram and Gibson, Mr. Moore, Ingram and Gibson, Mr. Moore, Ingram and Gibson.

great deal of evidence, in the bulk of it, was in reference to the methods of the institution. There was a diversity of opinion as to the merits of the institution. Some of the teachers testified that the articles of food supplied were proper in quantity rather than in quality. He did admit that some meat which had been used had been spoiled.

Before leaving the institution yesterday, Mr. Snow, the commissioner, made a minute inspection of the various workshops, school rooms and buildings generally.

Citizens' Notice.
Mr. Ross, Inspector of the Post Office Division, will be here this afternoon evening and would like to meet the members of the institution, to testify in the Criminal Chamber, at the Court House, at 10 o'clock, P. M., on Friday, Feb. 15, 1907.

A few days ago a letter was received from the correspondent with the name, rather pointed criticism. The writer, using an inimitable right, was in the habit of writing the writer's name in the paper. This, it may be remarked, is not a new thing, but a right which every newspaper reserves. The writer's name was not a right which every newspaper reserves.

BRITAIN IS FOR REDUCTION.

Expedition On Armies and Navies of World War Great Britain and the Russian Program for Peace.

London, Feb. 12.—It can be stated that Great Britain will continue to press for the reduction in the program of the peace conference, and the question of the reduction of expenditures on the armies and navies of the world.

While some of the members of the Cabinet would like to see the reduction of the program of the peace conference, the majority believe that this would be futile.

The principal points of the program for the consideration of the peace conference are: First—Improvements to be introduced into the program of the peace conference, relating to the Pacific settlement of international disputes.

Secondly—Additions to be made to the program of the peace conference, relating to the laws and usage of land warfare, including those concerning the treatment of prisoners, the rights of neutrals on land, etc.

The new Archbishop of Toronto is to have a beautiful place in the city. And if, as Dean Swift said, there are some who are to make an archbishop.

However, it's when a tonic republic like Italy squares off to Germany that the Kaiser realizes that there are some people who are to make an archbishop.

For the first time in many years Harry Thaw has been skating in Northern Italy, as well as coasting in Zurich, and the lakes of that region have been thronged with visitors from all over the Kingdom, eager to enjoy the winter sports.

Interesting Discussion in Parliament on the Question.

Mr. Pringle Brings the Matter Up in a Resolution—After Debate, In Which Sir Wilfrid Laurier Joined, the Motion Was Withdrawn—Compensation for Injuries on the Intercolonial Railway.

OWAGA, Feb. 21.—In the House yesterday, Mr. Pringle moved the following resolution: "That it is the opinion of this House, the subject of improving the condition of the aged dependents who are helpless and infirm in the family and should receive the early and careful attention of the Government and of providing for their pension their civil servants, and pensioners of other institutions, but there was no provision made for the soldier of labor or for the men who had been pensioners in Canada." The Australian Commonwealth a Royal Commission, appointed to inquire into the subject, had presented a report recommending the adoption of a Federal pension system for persons over 65, not as a charity, but as a right. It does not confirm the worst rumors which have been circulating. Chamberlain is completely broken physically, although he is mentally alert.

He sometimes spends considerable time in his orchard house, as the temperature in these buildings suits him, or he will be wheeled in an invalid chair about the grounds.

He occasionally takes a short walk, supported by his stout stick and the arm of his wife, but the invalid chair always is at hand.

ALTHOUGH Richard Delroy knew that he was a familiar associate as Dickie...

During a pause in the conversation Delroy's glance happened to fall upon the superb necklace of pearls which...

He had an office in the Wall street district, where he spent some hours daily in untroubled contemplation of the world's wisdom and present fate...

He invited examination, for it was almost impossible in its perfection. It was Delroy's own great attraction...

"Yes," agreed Delroy, with a little laugh. "I certainly do. You better take it down to Tiffany, Dickie."

"What a beautiful necklace!" he thought. "I don't think anything more about it. I don't want it," she answered, still smiling...

"You're going it too hard, Edith," he remarked. "You need rest and a change of scene."

"That will do nothing," he said. "I'll be back in ten days, I'll be back in ten days, I'll be back in ten days."

In the slowness of the train, and the hand which said more than many words.

"I feel a good deal as that pure felt, you know," he murmured. "He looked up at Kate, then. "She never could be wronged, he hoped. He sighed, and told him to help her."

"And yet in the end she did need him, didn't she? Perhaps," and her face changed and the looked away into the glass—perhaps I may need you—only have to ask a price of you."

"I'll be back in ten days," he said. "I'll be back in ten days, I'll be back in ten days."

"The conference was over by noon, and Tremaine announced the intention of retiring to Eldersburg by the first train."

"I'm going up to Tiffany's first," Delroy answered. "I'll have a talk with them about my wife's necklace. I left it with them Saturday. If they arrive a week later, I'll return it to them."

"I'll be back in ten days," he said. "I'll be back in ten days, I'll be back in ten days."

Passengers and Crew Nearly All Drowned—Twenty-Five Bodies Washed Ashore—Survivors Clinging to Wreckage—Vessels Broke in Two and Sank—About 180 on Board—Lifeboats Unable To Approach.

Rottendam, Feb. 22.—A disastrous steamship wreck, attended with great loss of life, occurred yesterday off the north end of the Hook of Holland, when the Great Eastern Railway Co.'s steamer Berlin, bound from Harwich to the Hook of Holland, was lost. All on board, 181 persons in all, of whom 91 were passengers, were drowned, with one exception.

The wreck occurred at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, during a terrible southerly gale. The steamer struck the north light while trying to enter the new waterway at the Hook of Holland.

She broke in two and sank while the passengers and crew gathered on the main deck vainly attempting to save the lifeboats. One person was washed ashore.

The gale was such that although they were not fully recovered, the survivors, they believe the vessel carried 250 passengers and a crew of sixty-six men and women.

The Berlin was a British steamer, 392 feet long and of 1,770 tons. The ship was owned by the Dutch Government, and was built in 1904.

The attempt of the wrecked steamer to enter the new waterway at the Hook of Holland, which is a very narrow channel, was the cause of the disaster. During high water at the height of the storm tide, the vessel struck off all view of the wreck, which led to the loss of the ship.

The reading tide, however, revealed remains of her stern with a handful of survivors.

It was not possible at 4 p.m. to tell for certain whether the persons seen on the remaining fragments of the Berlin were dead or still clinging to the wreck. If they were alive, the odds are suffering must be intense.

The steam lifeboat which has been able to approach it on account of the attempt to reach the position in which the wrecked vessel lay, and was only with the greatest effort that the lifeboat could be pulled out from being dashed to pieces.

The waiting-room of the station at the Hook of Holland has been converted into a morgue, and the station is being guarded by troops.

Several of the bodies recovered are badly mangled. It is supposed that the wreck of the steamer was caused by the collapse of her steering gear, which was broken down by one of her engines.

The only person who thus far has succeeded in reaching the shore has been a fisherman of Belfast, Ireland. He is now in a high fever.

No Canadian on Board.—The Great Eastern Railway Co. officially confirms the report of the steamer Berlin, which was on board, of the coast of Holland. The Berlin carried passengers and crew to the number of 181.

The Berlin left Harwich at 10 o'clock yesterday night upon the regular service to the London train, with the greatest number of the passengers. She subsequently lost her lives. The steamer should have reached the Hook of Holland at six o'clock yesterday morning, and would have proceeded for Rotterdam.

Into River. Three Pullman Cars Derailed While Going At Great Speed.

Rolled Down 60-Foot Embankment Into the Water-Fifty-Four Passengers, and a Dozen Trainmen Have Lucky Escape From Death-Cars Turned Completely Over-Accident Was Unavoidable.

Pittsburg, Feb. 25.-A statement issued by the Pennsylvania Railroad Saturday is to the effect that 54 passengers and a train crew of about a dozen persons were injured in the wreck of the Pennsylvania special, the last Pullman train on the Pennsylvania Railroad, between New York and Chicago, which occurred at a sharp curve at Black Diamond, Pa., seven miles east of Johnstown after Saturday morning.

No one was killed and all the passengers have been accounted for. The engine and combination engine car remained on the rails, but the three Pullman plunging over the edge of the embankment into the Conemaugh River. Fortunately, the cars were not submerged.

Some of confusion. A scene of wild confusion resulted. All the passengers were in their berths and were thrown promiscuously around the cars.

Everybody on the train was injured but not seriously, the exception noted by John F. Kline of Johnstown, the injured are dangerous.

The train was running 60 minutes late and was trying to make up lost time. Cause of the Wreck. The wreck was caused by an unavoidable accident. The brake rigging of the last Pullman car, which was a combination coach, on the train derailed and fell over the right track for a distance of 300 yards, but the three Pullman following ploughed over the embankment to the river bank, 100 feet below, overturning when they reached the bottom. When the brake rigging fell it either stripped the heads of the bolts holding the rails to the ties or tore up the rails themselves.

Thieves Were Busy. Much disorder followed the accident, which was greatly increased by the attempts of the officials of the railroad to prevent swarms of men from getting the facts. In the midst of the confusion a number of forgers were detected plundering the Pullman cars. One was arrested and the others were driven away by a display of firearms. Considerable jewelry and valuable property were lost to the train, however.

All the passengers were thankful and happy that they had escaped death, and the Rev. Edward Cook of Philadelphia, conducted brief services on the relief train, in which he cited the Lord for their deliverance.

Wrecked in Yards. The wreck was caused by the Philadelphia express on the Pennsylvania Railroad here at 8:30 last night, run into an open switch at the yards at 10:01 street about 7 o'clock last night. Amateurs were hurriedly summoned to the Union Station, but according to officials no one was injured.

The New York express, due here at 8 o'clock, narrowly escaped running into the Philadelphia train, but was stopped by the already frightened passengers.

One coach on the Philadelphia train was telephoned and two others were derailed. The train was late, and was running faster than usual through the yards.

ACTRESS AVERTS PANIC.

With Fire Beneath Stage She Starts a Song.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 25.-A panic in the audience in the auditorium Saturday night during the grand opera performance of the San Carlo Co. was averted by the presence of mind of Miss Alice Nielsen, who was singing.

A small blaze underneath the stage first drew the attention of the stage fire crew to be ignored. The sight of the barrier and the smell of smoke brought about a general alarm to persons to flee in alarm.

Just as the panic was about to break when Miss Nielsen started under the disconcerting curtain and called to the orchestra conductor, "Play the rose over the tunnel and strike the piano before she had finished the first verse. Then the curtain was raised, flames appeared on the stage and reassured the audience and the opera was resumed after an outburst of cheering.

During the confusion some one entered the dressing room of M. Constanini, leading toward the stage, and stole a diamond pin which had been presented to him by the King of Spain.

EXPLOSION IN TUNNEL.

Workman Accidentally Strikes Brick of Dynamite With Pick.

New York, Feb. 25.-A premature explosion in the Belmont tunnel killed one workman and injured two others Saturday.

The accident occurred in a lock 125 feet below the surface of the East River, where 30 men were working.

While the gang was working with picks, John Johnson, aged 35 years, accidentally struck a stick of dynamite which had been placed in the earth wall, so the explosion that followed, although not instantly killing, instantly killed him.

Harry Douglas, aged 27 years, sustained a broken wrist and lacerations, and Alexander Thompson, 26 years of age, also colored, was badly torn about the body, both of whom were removed to a hospital.

DECEASED FOR BIGAMY.

Detective Jack Too Late to Save Young Woman.

Montreal, Feb. 25.-Jacob K. Swartzwald, alias Jo. C. Gordon, alias J. W. Miller, of Norwich, Conn., is detained here on charges on a charge of bigamy.

Swartzwald was married Thursday to Miss Catherine Davis, called in the dining-room of the Queen's Hotel, although she was already married. His young wife is to be preferred to him by a charge with another of bigamy.

He has been quite busy making proof of marriage since he arrived in the city, and this was his last effort. He was arrested by the police officers on Saturday morning, but he had not been married.

Swartzwald had admitted to Chief Carpenter that he had a wife and five children, but he had not been married. It is not a case of murder, "as I am not a case of murder," said he, "and I can't be charged because I am not a case of murder."

He was arrested on the bigamy charge by Judge Fisher, the prisoner did not wish to plead until he had seen counsel.

THE BRITISH ARMY

Secretary Haldane Outlines Main Changes to Be Made.

Troops To Be Divided Into Two Bodies For Field and Home Service.

Formation of Regular Troops—Military Principles of the Army.

London, Feb. 26.—The latest scheme for the reorganization of the British army was unfolded by War Secretary Haldane in the House of Commons yesterday.

It comprises dividing all the forces into two categories—a field force and a territorial or home force.

To former with 100,000 officers and men to consist of four cavalry and six infantry divisions, with a full complement of horse and field artillery, all to be ready for immediate mobilization on the outbreak of war.

The territorial force, totaling 200,000 men, shall be a complete army in itself, consisting of regular troops of the same pattern as the regular troops.

This plan would unite all the present regular troops, the territorial force and volunteers, with a complement of regular artillery, horse and field artillery, all to be paid at war-time during the time they are trained.

The territorial force would be trained and organized as to enable them to take the place of the regular troops in the event of mobilization.

The present militia principle of the organization would remain, but the whole home army organization, with the army council, would be controlled.

MAY BE GENERAL STRIKE.

Explosion of Three Years' Agreement—Week's Work in Coal Mines.

Regina, Sask., Feb. 26.—Word has been received from the general union of coal miners and the general union of coal miners, that the strike at the termination of the three years' agreement between the operators and miners will begin on March 1st.

This strike would affect every coal mine in the mountains, Alberta and Saskatchewan. The strike of the Reg. of the West would mean the closing down of the coal mines.

C. P. R. depends for operating their trains on the coal mines.

The men are demanding higher wages and shorter hours. The strike would mean the closing down of the coal mines.

Unless a settlement is reached before the strike begins, the coal mines of the western Canadian coal mines must be closed.

Daily Intelligencer.

TIMELY TOPICS.

Only too sure day in February. And no one will be sorry to see it go. But short up. The winds of March will break the backbones of winter.

O, won't it be joyful when navigation opens again, and the steam roller cuts off its moorings!

This is Parliament's time. Time passes, but few of us have forgotten that memorable morning when the news came that Canadian led had been in action in South Africa, and that peace of had stopped bullets. And the worst of it is that the result of all that sacrifice of blood and treasure is now being jeopardized by the Liberal Government of Great Britain. That's a hard pill for loyalists all over this Kintyre to swallow.

"I heartily agree with The Intelligencer," said a property-owner this morning. "If the gun department is to be made a success the Council must get an export to run it."

A good deal of the city's money was voted up in that proposition, and those of us who are paying taxes want to see business methods prevail. Let the Council secure a capable man, pay him a good salary and let him do his job. It is to treat everybody alike. This in a year or two, the gas department will show better results. And, I believe, not till then."

MR. DOOLEY'S OBSERVATIONS.
"May I ask one question?" said Mr. Hennessy.

"You say," said Mr. Dooley, "a dozen if you like."

"Well, this," said Mr. Hennessy, "is no question: 'Are you able to meet a water in the house of every gas meter in this city?'"

"This is a fine important question, then," said Mr. Dooley, "and now, Hennessy, let us have to do to hunt up men that shall do the work for us, and you'll know a lot more than a you took the present favour—the crystal made innocently.

good many people."

"If I lived outside the city," said Mr. Dooley, earnestly, "I should hardly expect to get out water on the same terms as people inside."

"That's no lie," said Mr. Hennessy, "and I'd say this for a boy, he wouldn't take any water at all if he could help it."

"Fancy," said Mr. Dooley, "especially in the dog days, when the blizzard is on the weather."

"And I'd say on the 75c," said the other angel.

"I'm told we'll have the Minnabie again soon," said Mr. Hennessy. "I wonder if they'll rope off any more the night they do make public their jokes and sounds of joy."

"No, they," said Mr. Dooley, "they'll be too busy trying to rope people. But tell me, Hennessy, do you guess the difference between the voters of Belleville and the Gas Committee?"

"I'm by," said Mr. Hennessy, "it's the Gas Committee."

"The Gas Committee," said Mr. Dooley, "will pay fourteen thousand dollars for a gas holder, while the voters of Belleville elect, every January, to serve them for nothing."

"What a happy land this would be," said Mr. Dooley, "if every man attended to business as well as to his own pocket."

"It was," said Mr. Hennessy, "and it is to make him jokes."

An English visitor said that all the men he saw at Queen's University were fine and tall. It is easy to see that he did not run up against Prof. Adam Shortt.

20 per cent. Discount On All Winter Overcoats

The Quick & Robertson principle: "Every dollar's worth of goods must be sold during the season for which it was bought." It means heroic methods, extraordinary sacrifices, especially when stocks are unusually large, but we never flinch from the emergency, the principle is never departed from.

20 Per Cent. Off Winter Overcoats

Every garment in the collection is a masterpiece of dresscraft, every style every fabric and weave so new, and staple that they will be found the best of good form next season and in spite of the fact that the most of the winter is yet to come, they go at this remarkable sacrifice of value, simply because we never "carry over."

Two Fireman Dead and Eleven Rendered Unconscious.

Flames Melted Coupling and Allowed Poisonous Fumes to Escape—Men Were Overcome in the Basement—Three Brave Rescuing Parties Entered Fatal Cellar Thus Preventing More Deaths.

New York, Feb. 28.—Two firemen were killed and 11 others rendered unconscious by a smothering fire which broke out yesterday morning in the basement of a market in Fifth avenue. Several men who were made unconscious may die, while the condition of two others is serious. But for the heroic work of three rescuing parties the death list would have been larger. The dead are Adam Damm and Harry Baker. The fire started in a pipe through the basement and into an opening leading to a sub-basement when they called for water pressure. However, when other firemen reached the hole to assist them in directing Baker was not to be seen. Anxious to rescue the men who were in the hole and the basement. The flames had melted the coupling of one of the ammonia pipes connected with the cold storage plant of the market. Burning vermin, a fire of volunteer and Damm and Baker carried up from the hole with difficulty. Each of the rescuers encountered the open air and without the aid of the fact that P. Campbell, of Erie, No. 28, was down in the hole where he had gone in search of victims of the flames, and he was brought to the surface. It is believed that he will not recover. Baker died in a street car. Damm was utilized as an emergency help and Baker died at a hospital. The financial loss will be about $2,000.

MATCH CAUSED FIRE.

Fire Drift Failed. Montreal, Feb. 28.—A match thrown by a school boy into a wooden chest that extended from the top of the basement of the Hochstadt Protestant School caused the fire in which 17 pupils and their principal perished on Monday. A coroner's jury was sworn to investigate the fatal, after taking medical evidence showing that suffocation by gas, the cause of death in each case, the inquiry was adjourned until next Tuesday. At that time, it is expected, evidence will be submitted that the school fire was not self-ignited, but the fire which the children were present, therefore, failing in its purpose. Fire Drift Failed to Work. If the drift had been put into operation, it is contended, the children have been out of the building safely within five minutes after the sounding of the alarm. Twelve of the victims are to be buried from St. Mary's Church. Friday afternoon, they were taken to the hospital, Myrtle and Ethel Sprague, Jeanne Anderson, Mary Jackson, Anne, Edith Gordon, John Zimmerman, Joe Lintley, Lily Ridgway, Joseph Johnson, Ethel Lambson and John Lomas. The funeral of Miss Sarah Maxwell, the principal whose husband saved some lives, will take place today from her mother's residence on St. Tristram street to Christ Church Cathedral.

Describes Teacher's Heroism. Her work of rescue is described as "the five Captain Carver." As soon as we formed our line, she passed the children to me and I passed them from man to man down the ladder to the ground. Probably 40 had been saved in this way, when I called to her to come out herself. She refused and went back, saying there were others inside. "We could not follow her. It would have been simply suicide. A moment later she fell all in the thick smoke, and we all went down and saw her body was carried through the window along with those of the children she had tried so hard to save. It is probable that both the Protestant and Roman Catholic school authorities will equip all the schools with proper fire escapes immediately.

AFTERMATH OF WRECK. Inquest Opens Tuesday—Mrs. Down at Toronto in a Critical Condition. Oglethorpe, Feb. 28.—The coroner's jury assembled at the order of County Attorney Peterson to inquire into the cause of the wreck, met yesterday morning to view the remains of Charles Rankin of Stratford. They then viewed the scene of the accident, taking note of the position of the vessel and the condition of the wreck. All the injured except Mrs. Anna Dill of Stratford, who was dying well, was reported last night to be in a very critical condition at St. Joseph's Hospital. The cause of the accident, it has been fully determined, was a broken rail. Perhaps two hundred yards to the west of where the collision occurred, the rail was broken and it was overturned at the foot of the 60-foot embankment in a bright clear day, a piece of steel, to which the disaster may be attributed. Dredged by a Bull. Downstream, Feb. 28.—John Aske, and St. who work for Mr. Hartley, was fearfully gored by a bull yesterday. He was about to tie the animal and had dropped the rope with which he was leading it, when the bull made a jump and caught him by the thigh with his long horns, tearing it from the knee to the groin. Three times the animal threw him in the air before assistance arrived. Dr. Chaston of Weston was called when the animal and but for his prompt arrival the man would have been killed. His thigh was completely torn and he was carried in a hundred stitches to join the wound. The Maritime Express Ditched. Montreal, Feb. 28.—The Montreal-based Maritime Express was derailed at Berthelot, a mile north of here yesterday, the engine train being in the ditch. No one was hurt, but the line was blocked several hours. Collier Dredging Fire. Mexico, Mo., Feb. 28.—During a heavy frost yesterday an incensement train and a freight train collided in the ditch. No one was hurt, but the line was blocked several hours. Collier Dredging Fire. 8500 SHOOTING TROPHY. Earl Grey Gives Pledge to Encourage Cadet Training. Ottawa, Feb. 28.—Replying to a vote of thanks at the annual meeting of the Dominion Rifle Association, His Excellency the Governor-General said that every man should be a good rifle shot. He was never prouder in his life than when he wore a rifle mark on his own badge of his country on his arm. He said he was never prouder in the millennium to the association. He was in two places conducting in the schools and the development of the cadet system. In this connection he said that it was his intention to give a 8500 trophy to be shot for annually by the clubs of the Dominion having the largest and best marksmen of cadets. The details as to the number of the prize would be arranged with the association.
